MR. MAGEE'S LECTURE.

The seating capacity of the Sunday School room of the M. E. church was fully taxed last Thursday evening by an audience that gathered to hear James Magee 2nd tell of his travels in Europe last summer. He and J. W. Evans of Berwick spent several weeks abroad, and visited London, Paris, Brussels, Cologne, The Rhine, Berlin, Vienna, Venice, Rome and Naples, and saw the numerous places of interest in the various cities. Mr. Magee's easy, conversational style of delivery, without any attempt at oratory, caught the attention of the audiance at once, and he was listened to with interest throughout his discourse. He gave some very good advice at the outset on how to prepare for an European trip, the main thing being to take nothing along that the traveler can possibly do without.

Amongvarious places visited were the Bristish Museum, London Tower, Winsdor Castle, West Minster Abbey, Parliament, Buckingham Palace, Kensington Gardens, a ride on the Thames, across the English Channel, the sights of Paris including Napoleon's Tomb and the Bastine, Battlefield of Waterloo, up the Rhine, then to Venice and Rome, Mount Vesuvius, Vatican, Pompeii and so on, all of which was very clearly described, and without reference to notes Mr. Magee spoke for nearly an hour and a half, and his audience could have listened much longer without tiring. It was a pleasant and instructive entertainment, and from the appearance of the silver offering at the door the Male Bible Class had a goodly sum to go towards the church debt.

Dr. S. Y. Thompson.

Dr. S. Y. Thompson, the eminent physician of Danville, died suddenly on Saturday evening at 6:15 o'clock, while sitting at his desk in his office writing a prescription for a patient.

For a year Dr. Thompson had been suffering with a complication of diseases, involving a serious heart trouble, which was the cause of his sudden taking off. As a physician he fully realized the gravity of his case and the fact that he was at all times exposed to the danger of sudden death, nevertheless with a devotion that was nothing short of heroism he struggled on visiting his patients whenever at all able to go out and attending to a large office practice. He was born in Danville on October 29, 1843. He was a son of John G. and Hannah (Yorks) Thompson, of Scotch Irish descent, who came to this country locating at Berwick and later removing to Espy. Dr. Thompson acquired a good education in the public schools of Danville and then studied medicine under Dr. P. H. Long at Mechanicsburg, Pa. Entering the Long Island Hospital of Brooklyn he was graduated in 1866 and one year later entered upon his chosen profession in Danville. He was successful from the start and for many years while in the prime of physical manhood he had a large practice. He had served two terms as Chief Burgess of Danville and at the time of his death was serving his third term as Associate Judge of Montour county. His wife and two daughters survive him. The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Margaret Sechler of Danville celebrated her ninety-ninth birthday on Sunday last.

KINSEY AND GEORGE ARRESTED

Charged With the Drowning of John Potter at Mud Lake

Which Occurred August 16th

Harold Kinsey and Thomas George, young men of Wilkes-Barre were arrested last Monday charged with the death of John Potter, a lumber camp foreman, at Mud Pond, on the night of August 16. They had a secret hearing before Alderman Pollock and were committed to jail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

The case is one of the most mysterious with which the police there have ever dealt. Potter rowed two unknown men across the lake on the night of August 16 and next morning was found drowned while the men had disappeared. When the facts of the death were published former Chief of Police Myers, of Wilkes-Barre, remembered getting bait for two of his neighbors, Kinsey and George, to go fishing in Mud Pond.

Suspecting they were the men with Potter he advised them to go to the District Attorney and tell their story. They did, telling him that on the way across the lake Potter, who had been drinking, quarreled with them. After they landed and he turned back, they saw him fall out of the boat and did not go to his aid fearing that he would harm them. Instead they walked through the forest for several miles and returned home and said nothing.

The Coroner's jury found, however, that they in some manner "threw Potter into the water."

Since then the young men have been free while evidence has been collected.

HALLOW E'EN

The proper observance of Hallowe'en is commendable, and the custom is a very old one. Of late years, however, the occasion has been made an excuse by young people especially for all sorts of malicious mischief. Young folks like to have a good time, and ought to be encouraged in it within proper limits, but when the thing is carried to excess the only way to prevent abuse is to stop it altogether. On Monday night crowds of youngsters went about the streets with chalk, marking clothing and defacing buildings, signs and fences. Several buildings just newly painted were subjected to this. Such conduct is malicious mischief just as much on Hallowe'en as on any other day in the year, and the perpetrators can be prosecuted for it.

Carrying away gates, chairs, mats, or any other property from residences, is stealing, and can be dealt with the same as any other theft. There is no law that gives special license to steal or injure property on Hallow-e'en, and hereafter the authorities should give notice that such things will not be tolerated.

On Tuesday night a large number of masqueraders made things lively on Main street. Some of the costumes were very grotesque and the participants had a good time.

At the Normal a Hallowe'en party was given by the Y. W. C. A. of the school, and about 400 students took part. The party was given in the gymnasium which was beautifully decorated.

Rev. Frank Traub has accepted a call to Lima, Ohio.

TO ISSUE BONDS

County Will Issue $24,000 to Meet Extraordinary Expenses

At a meeting of the County Commissioners last Saturday a resolution was adopted for the issuing of county bonds in the sum of $24,000, to pay for extraordinary expenses caused by the floods, and to enable the board to conduct the business of the county without increasing the tax rate, which is now 4 per cent. The following statement from the Morning Press shows some of the work the present board has done.

When the present board went into office January 1, 1903, the bonds, coupons and orders of the county amounted to $195,743. That was almost three years ago. The present board has built ten bridges and paid for two contracted for by the old board—the Baptist church bridge in Madison township and the Hartman bridge in Benton township. They paid out $2,256 for planking the Bloomsburg river bridge and $800 for repairs for damages caused by the ice gorge to the bridge.

Including the contemplated bond issue of $24,000 the bonded indebtedness of the county will not exceed $194,000 on the first of January 1906, notwithstanding the extraordinary expenses of the flood, which in addition has caused the county to pay out about $19,000 in addition to the other extraordinary items and the usual items of expense for which tax is imposed. Then, too, there is a very big chance that with some boards of Commissioners which the county has had the Rose bill would never have been thought of, and the county would have had the burden on its shoulders of rebuilding the Mifflinville bridge, the cost of which would have been appalling. According to the statements given out in the Commissioners office Saturday the bonded indebtedness of the county will be about $1,700 less on January 1, 1906, and the extraordinary expense items will have been provided for.

The resolution passed by the Board Saturday is as follows:

Whereas, the disastrous floods of 1904 caused a great destruction of bridges in the County of Columbia and has caused an enormous outlay in their rebuilding, and

Whereas, Although the general laws require the rebuilding of bridges over navigable streams by the state, yet these general laws also impose upon the county the duty of paying the fees and expenses of viewers, and the proper charge for the preparation of the plans and specifications of such bridges and the superintending of construction of the same, the cost of advertising, cost of all legal proceedings and all other costs and expenses, whatsoever, the amount of said fees and expenses to be fixed by the Court, and

Whereas, The cost to the state for rebuilding of such bridges as ascertained and estimated amounts to a sum not less than four hundred and sixty thousand dollars and has imposed on the county an extraordinary burthen of over forty thousand dollars, including efforts to temporarily maintain travel at necessary points, and

Whereas, The Commissioners by a careful and rigid management of the finances have been able to meet a portion of such extra burthen in addition to the usual and ordinary expenses and the provision for interest and bonds coming due on account of the previous indebtedness of the county without increasing the previous rate of taxation; and

Whereas, The Commissioners are of the opinion that the remainder of the indebtedness can with advantage to the taxpayers and to the finances of the county be met by a loan of $24,000 and without any increase of the tax rate. Therefore it is hereby Resolved, 1. That it is ordered that coupon bonds be issued to the amount of $24,000 in sums of no less than $100.00 each and bearing interest at 4 per centum per annum; said interest to be payable semi-annually on the first days of October and April in each year, are hereby authorized and ordered to be issued.

2. The principal of the bonds so issued shall be made payable at the office of the County Treasurer in amounts and dates as follows, to-wit:

$—000 on the day of —A. D 1914
$—000 on the day of —A. D. 1915
$—000 on the day of —A. D. 1916
$—000 on the day of —A. D. 1917
$—000 on the day of —A. D. 1918
$—000 on the day of —A. D. 1919

3. The interest coupons attached to said bonds shall be made payable to the holder at the office of the County Treasurer.

4. The Clerk is hereby directed to prepare a statement showing the actual indebtedness of the County, the amount of the last preceding assessed valuation of the taxable property therein, the amount of the loan to be made, the form, number and date of maturity of the bonds to be issued, and that provision for the payment of said bonds and interest is made out of the usual and ordinary annual taxes levied and assessed from time to time. Which said statement duly attested in legal form shall be filed in the office of the Clerk of the Court of Quarter Sessions before the issuing of said bonds.

Organ Recital.

The organ recital given by Dr. Minor C. Baldwin on Monday evening in the Lutheran church, was an exhibition of rare skill on the pipe organ. Dr. Baldwin has a high reputation as an organst, and he fully maintained it. In the "Storm in the Mountains,', his own composition, "The Tempest" was one of the most wonderful effects we have ever heard produced on an organ. The program was so varied that it gave the performer an opportunity to show the various combinations of registers to good advantage. Dr. Baldwin is a great organist, and the large audience listened to him with intense interest. Miss Rose Vollrath helped to vary the program by singing a beautiful solo accompanied by Miss Albert.

Section 16, act July 2, 1839, P. L. 521.

"In case the person who shall have received the second highest number of votes for inspector shall not attend on the day of any election, then the person who shall have received the second highest number of votes for judge at the next preceding election shall act as an inspector in his place; and in case the person who shall have received the highest number of votes for inspector shall not attend, the person elected judge shall appoint an inspector in his place; and in case the person elected a judge shall not attend, then the inspector who received the highest number of votes shall appoint a judge in his place; and if any vacancy shall continue in the board for the space of one hour after the time fixed by law for the opening of the election, the qualified voters of the township, ward or district for which such officer shall have been elected, present at the place of election, shall elect one of their number to fill such vacancy."

Section 1, act May 19, 1897, P. L. 78.

"From and after the passage of this act, in all township elections of this commonwealth for judges of the general and township elections where a tie shall exist in said election for judges, the inspector who shall have the highest number of votes in said election shall appoint a judge for that purpose. And where ties shall exist in said election for two inspectors, the two candidates who received the same number of votes for inspector shall determine by lot which of them shall be the majority inspector, and the other candidate shall be the minority inspector, and the person so determined to be the majority inspector shall appoint a judge of elections in case of a tie vote for judges."

4—All judges, inspectors, clerks and overseers of any election shall, before entering upon their duties, be duly sworn or affirmed in the presence of each other; the judge shall be sworn by the minority inspector, if there be such; and in case there be no such minority inspector, then by a justice of the peace or alderman, and the inspectors, overseers and clerks shall be sworn by the judge; and the clerks will make out two copies of the forms of each said oaths, duly certified, as now required by law.

Qualifications of Voter.

Every male citizen twenty-one years of age, possessing the following qualifications, shall be entitled to vote at all elections:

a—He shall have been a citizen of the United States at least one month.

b—He shall have resided in the state one year (or, if having been a qualified elector or native-born citizen of the state, he shall have removed therefrom and returned, then six months) immediately preceding the election.

c—He shall have resided in the election district where he shall offer to vote at least two months immediately preceding the election. A minor becomes of age on the day prior to the twenty-first anniversary of his birth.

d—If twenty-two years of age, or upwards, he shall have paid, within two years, a state or county tax, which shall have been assessed at least two months and paid at least one month before the election.

e—If the name of the voter is not upon the registry list he cannot vote unless he makes proof of his right to vote as heretofore required by law. The affidavits for this purpose must be furnished by the election officers and all affidavits signed and sworn to must be preserved.

f—Challenges should be made before the person offering to vote receives his ballot, but may be made at any time before he casts it.

g—Naturalization certificates must be produced to the board and are conclusive if genuine.

Manner of Voting.

Besides the election officers and supervisors authorized by the laws of the United States, or overseers appointed by the courts of this commonwealth not more than FOUR voters in excess of the number of voting shelves or compartments shall be allowed inside of the enclosed space at one time and not more than TEN outside that space.

Specimen ballots and cards of instruction must be furnished by the election officers upon request.

The person desiring to vote will a—Enter the room and remain outside the chain or guard rail. The voter shall give his name and residence to the election officers in charge of the ballots.

b—The officer will thereupon announce the same in a distinct tone of voice.

c—If the voter's name is upon the ballot check list the inspector or clerk in charge of the said list will repeat the name.

d—The voter will then enter the space enclosed by the guard rail unless his right to vote be challenged.

e—If his name is not upon the said list or if he is challenged by a qualified voter in his district, he shall remain outside the guard rail until his right to vote is determined, but he may be challenged any time before the vote is cast. (It is recommended, however, that challenges be made before the voter enters the guard rail, or before he receives his ballot. His right to vote shall be established in the manner heretofore provided by law.)

f—If his right to vote be established his name will be entered upon the voting and check list.

Inside of Guard Rail.

The voters having the right to vote will enter within the guard rail.

a—The election officer having charge of the ballots shall detach one from the stub and give it to the voter.

b—The said officer shall first fold it so that the words printed upon the back and outside of the ballot shall be the only words visible, and it cannot be voted unless so folded.

c—Only one ballot shall be given to a voter, unless he inadvertently spoils it, when he may obtain another upon returning the spoiled one.

d—Upon his receiving the ballot, the check list shall be marked with the letter "B" against his name on the margin of the list by election officers, but no record of the number of the ballot shall be made on said list, and the voter shall forthwith, and without leaving the space enclosed by guard rail, retire to one of the voting shelves or compartments.

e—Only official ballots can be voted, and any ballot other than a sample ballot, appearing to have been obtained otherwise than provided by the act, shall be sent by the judge of election to the district attorney for his official action.

Inside the Voting Compartment.

The voter upon entering the voting compartment must:

a—Draw the curtain or close the screen or door and prepare his ballot.

b—To assist him in preparing his official ballot he may mark a sample ballot before going to vote and take it with him into the voting compartment to copy from in preparing his official ballot. He must vote the official ballot only.

c—Cards of instruction will be posted in each voting compartment or shelf.

d—No voter shall be allowed to occupy a voting shelf or compartment already occupied by another, except when giving the help allowed in the preparation of his ticket, nor remain in such compartment more than three minutes.

e—If any voter declares to the judge of election that he desires assistance in the preparation of his ballot, by reason of any disability, he shall be permitted by the judge of election to select a qualified voter of the election district to aid him, such preparation being made in the voting compartment.

f—A voter who shall, except as above stated, allow his ballot to be seen with an apparent intention of letting it be known how he is about to vote, or shall cast or attempt to cast any other ballot than the official ballot, or shall falsely declare to a judge of election that by reason of any disability he desires assistance in the preparation of his ballot, or shall willfully violate any provision of the act, shall be punished by fine or imprisonment.

g—No person within the election room shall electioneer or solicit votes, or shall interfere with any voter when inside said enclosed space, or when marking his ballot, or endeavor to induce any voter before depositing the ballot to show how he marks his ballot.

h—Any person who shall disclose the contents of any ballot that has been marked by his help, or who, except when lawfully commanded by a return judge or a competent court, shall loosen, cut or unfasten the corner pasted down over the number on the ballot, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Preparation of Ballot.

Upon entering the voting shelf or compartment and drawing the curtain, or shutting the screen or door, he shall proceed to prepare his ballot.

a—If he desires to vote the STRAIGHT PARTY TICKET, or, in other words, for every candidate of a political party, he can do so by placing a cross (X thus) in the square opposite the name of his party on the left hand side of the ticket. This single mark or cross will be equivalent to a cross mark against every name in the column and will be counted as one vote for each candidate named in that column.

b—If a voter desires otherwise he shall mark in the appropriate margin or place a cross (X) mark opposite the name of each candidate of his choice for the office to be filled, according to the number of persons to be voted for by him for each office; or c—If the voter adopts the plan of marking a cross to the right of the name of each candidate he should be careful not to miss a name, as a name not crossed would not be counted.

TO PROTECT NIAGARA

From Further Encroachment of Electric and Other Plants.

CANADIANS AT FAULT

Three Power Houses at Present at Victoria Park — Great Factories Abound and Mar the Scenery—There Is a Prevailing Air of Commercial Activity.

President Roosevelt is said to be receiving many requests to take action for the preservation of the falls of Niagara, and in this manner public sentiment is declared to be manifesting itself in relation to the great water spectacle, says the New York Sun.

Fifty years ago the fear was expressed that the erection of the original railway suspension bridge across the Niagara gorge would mar the beauty of the scenery, and this was one of the reasons why, when the structure was built, it was located two miles below the falls. Later on, in 1868, another bridge project developed at Niagara, the plan being to erect a foot and carriage bridge still closer to the falls.

This was opposed on sentimental grounds, but finally the charter was granted. The bridge was built. Years after it was rebuilt, and still later gave way to the present upper steel arch. The lower suspension bridge gave way to the present railway steel arch bridge.

There was much opposition to the construction of the Gorge railway, it being declared that the beauty of the New York bank would be ruined by it. Still the road was built, and is now patronized by thousands of sight-seers daily.

The scenic line along the Canadian cliff was another new feature which it was feared would act detrimentally to Niagara, but, in combination with the Gorge road, it now serves as a means for visitors to escape from the Niagara hackman, the most greedy individual that ever gained foothold at a beauty spot.

The diversion of a portion of the flow of the upper river by means of the hydraulic canal was welcomed by the citizens of the former village of Niagara Falls, who saw in the development of the plan the start of a great industrial future. The world cheered the enterprise of the Niagara Falls Power company when it decided to develop power by means of the tunnel and wheel pit method.

There are now three power companies engaged in the development of power in Victoria Park under franchises granted by the commissioners of that park and approved by the Ontario council and government. One of these companies contemplates a development of from 180,000 to 200,000 horsepower.

This concern is the Ontario Power company, whose power house is located at the water's edge in the gorge, very close to the Horseshoe Fall. To effect this development it will run three or more huge steel flumes for a distance of a mile or more through the park boundaries, covering them with earth, in order that they shall not mar the natural beauty of the park.

Its power station in the gorge will be extended as each section of the development is projected, until ultimately if the company's plans do not miscarry, there will be a building several hundred feet long at the water's edge in the gorge, right in full view of every person who views Niagara.

Strenuous efforts have been made to obtain from the state legislature other franchises for Niagara power development during recent years. These efforts have been so vigorously opposed by various interests in the state that they have failed of becoming law.

New York state shares with the province of Ontario the possession of Niagara river. New York does not see fit to grant further power rights at Niagara, but it opens its doors to the product of the big power houses receiving their life from water which belongs to New York as much as it does to Ontario.

A COSSACK'S CHILDHOOD.

First Steps in the Rearing of These Savage Servants of the Czar.

Powerful light is thrown on Cossack nature by the revelations made by the Russian whom Ernest Poole quotes in his article, "Peasant Cattle," in the Everybouy's.

"What a fine cook Granny was!" relates the Cossack, in describing his childhood. "She made bright yellow cakes, big as this big fur hat. It took a long time to bake the cake in the brick oven; it was so soft and delicate that even if you stamped on the floor and jarred the oven the big cake would fall into a lump of dough and be good only to feed the geese and the peacocks. So old Granny used to hobble up and down in front of the oven waving off all of us who tried to get close for a smell; and even if one of us little brats shouted or swore she would curse us soundly in a whisper for making a jar in the air. If you've ever heard a Cossack swear you will see that Granny was right, for a Cossack curse could stop a big locomotive running full speed down a mountain! Ha! Ha! Ha!" He learned back and grew red with laughing.

"Well! well!" And my good, fat mother—what borsch (soup) she used to make in the deep earthern bowl! When she poured it all splattering into the brown earthern basin, then we brats used to stand around, each with his wood spoon. We each dipped out a big chunk of meat; if one of us took two pieces, how quick old Granny would beat him in the face with her spoon! We young dogs were always hungry!"

RAPID GROWTH OF DIVORCE.

More Husbands Than Wives Apply for Complete Dissolution.

The growth of divorce in England, as in the United States, has grown so rapidly, says the London Mail, that it is causing uneasiness to those who are concerned in the moral health of the nation. It is now 47 years since the divorce court was constituted. Before Jan. 1, 1858, complete dissolution of marriage could only be effected by act of parliament, and consequently it was a privilege enjoyed by the very rich alone.

In the first year of the court's existence it had to deal with 326 petitions. Fewer applications for release from the marriage tie were made during the second and third years; in the fourth year, 1861, low water mark was reached, the petitions numbering 236.

From that date up to the present time there has been a continuous rise, but marked, as in the progress of trade, or emigration, or any other affair measured by statistics, by frequent remissions.

The judicial statistics, published this year, only go to 1903, and they show that in 1902 the highest point was touched. In that year there were a total of 1,050 petitions for dissolution of marriage, judicial separation, nullity, restitution of conjugal rights, etc.

The South African war acted as a disturbing factor. Many members of the class among whom divorce is most common were away, and, therefore, unable to take action. Thus the petitions fell by nearly 100 in each of the first two years of the war, and rose when the war came to an end.

The acts of 1878, 1886 and 1895 endowed the poor with some of the privileges of the well-to-do, and here there is real occasion for alarm on the score of morality. Any wife proving desertion, refusal to maintain her, or aggravated assault, on the part of her husband, can obtain a separation order which carries a weekly payment for her maintenance at the discretion of the magistrate.

While husband and wife are parted forever, the divorce is not complete. Marriage with another would be bigamy. There is only one moral safeguard—the maintenance order is revoked on proof of misconduct. The situation created is certainly hazardous.

Many curious facts are revealed by the judicial statistics. For instance, judicial separation is going out of fashion. Some people who cannot live happily together are disinclined to resort to measures for complete dissolution of the marriage and remain content with judicial separation, the old a mensa et thoro. But the number has fallen 12 per cent since 1858. It is the wives who keep it up. In 1903 the applicants for judicial separation comprised 86 wives and only four husbands.

More husbands than wives apply for complete dissolution. This is a curious fact, for it is true of other countries also where equal facilities are offered to the two sexes. The change in the status of women is shown, however, by a tendency in this difference to disappear.

A remarkable fact is that the increase of divorces corresponds with an older marrying age. People marry later in life now than formerly, and apparently with less judgment as to compatibility.

But more remarkable is the length of time husband and wives take to find each other out, so to speak. Taking the average of five years (1898-1903), nearly half the petitions were filed by people who had been married from ten to twenty years.

SHOWING WALL PAPERS.

Conveniences for Exhibiting Under Artificial Light.

Silks have long been shown in stores, when desired, by artificial light, so that the customer may see how they will light up, how they will look at night. Nowadays wall papers are shown in like manner.

There are wall papers that look well by day but not so well by night, and then there are wall papers handsome by day that are much handsomer under artificial light—papers that light up well. And it is a common thing now for purchasers in selecting wall papers to look at them by daylight and also by artificial light.

Purchasers have, indeed, long done this in a way. The salesman would hold up for their inspection a roll of paper under a gaslight. But now in some wall paper establishments there are found electric lighted rooms in which wall papers can be shown as they would appear at night under artificial light on the wall.

The rooms for which papers are thus selected are likely to be not sleeping rooms, but rooms that are occupied by night as well as by day for living purposes—rooms in which it is important that the papers should light up well and be gratifying to the eye—the parlor, the dining room and the library.

Natural History.

"The moth," remarked the man who assumes superior knowledge, "has never been credited with the sagacity it really possesses. The moth is an epicure."

"It'll eat anything in sight," replied his auditor.

"That's where you are wrong. It is a creature of taste and discernment. You have observed that it eats holes in your evening clothes, and only attacks your business suit when there is nothing else."

"Which is sheer cussedness."

"Not at all. When you attend a banquet you wear your evening clothes. And the moth's procedure conclusively demonstrates that it knows the difference between terrapin and champagne and plain restaurant coup."—Washington Star.

Pure Blood is a Defense

It means safety. A person whose blood is in an impure and impoverished condition is in the greatest danger of catching any infectious or epidemic disease. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the mildest, safest and surest purifier of the blood, thus striking at the root of Kidney, Liver and Bladder diseases. $1.00 at all druggists.

ONLY A LITTLE COLD in the head may be the beginning of an obstinate case of Nasal Catarrh. Drive out the invader with Ely's Cream Balm applied straight to the inflamed stuffed up air passages. Price 50c. If you prefer to use an atomizer, ask for Liquid Cream Balm. It has all the good qualities of the remedy in solid form and will rid you of catarrh or hay fever. No cocaine to breed a dreadful habit. No mercury to dry out the secretion. Price 75c., with spraying tube. All druggists, or mailed by Ely Bros. 56 Warren Street, New York.

Many a young man's brightness never extends any farther than his neckties.

What does it profit a woman if she gain the whole world of knowledge and lose her health? Young women students, and school teachers, eager, ambitious, and full of energy, very often neglect their health in the struggle to gain education. They eat insufficient food, and at irregular hours, they allow irregularity of the womanly functions to be established, and the result is that they become chronic invalids with all their education practically worthless. There is a plain road back to health for such as these, marked by the feet of thousands. It is the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for diseases of the stomach and digestive and nutritive organs, and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for diseases of the delicate organs of womanhood. A cure so certainly follows the use of these remedies that out of hundreds of thousands who have tried the treatment, ninety-eight in every hundred have been perfectly and permanently cured. Constipation, with its calamitous consequences, which is a common ailment of students, can be entirely cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

WASHINGTON.

From our Regular Correspondent.

Washington D. C. Oct. 26, 1905.

There has been a saying among Congressmen since the election of President Roosevelt, "You had better not get in Roosevelt's way or you'll die." It has always been said with a laugh but "Roosevelt luck" is something more than a superstition with a great many people. Since the assassin's bullet made the way for him to the White House death has again come to interfere with those who stood in the way of his progress and in the case of Senator Hanna removed the only serious obstacle to his election. When almost immediately after the speech of Senator Foraker in opposition to the administration he was taken sick people shook their heads and said "Roosevelt luck again." Senator Foraker still lies very ill at Columbus, Ohio and the series of speeches he had planned and which would doubtless have had for their theme opposition to Governmental control of railroad rates have had to be abandoned. Senator Foraker and the President have always been good friends and the President has appealed to the Senator for advice on many questions of policy during his administration, and entertains for him high personal regard but they were unalterably opposed on the railway rate question and the Senator's sickness it must be admitted removes from the campaign one of the most powerful opponents of the President's policy in this matter.

Senator Foraker has been in ill health for some time and his friends predicted for him a collapse at the close of the last session of Congress unless he should put aside all work and take a long vacation. His appearance on the streets here in the early Spring left no doubt in the minds of those that saw him that he was in need of rest, if in fact he were not really a sick man then. He had completed a winter of hard work and close application. He was a member of the Foreign Relations committee, Chairman of the Committee on Pacific Islands and Porto Rico, a close attendant of the Reed-Smoot hearings and active in the Military Affairs Committee. He was deeply interested in the work of the Interstate commerce Committee which had the consideration of the railroad rate question, he led the fight against Senator Beveridge's Statehood bill on the floor of the Senate and gave his personal attention to a large law practice outside of his Senatorial work. It is small wonder that he left Washington for his home in the late Spring that he should have been run down and that the plunging into campaign work should have resulted in this illness which is serious enough to be giving his friends considerable concern.

A letter given out by Isham Randolph, one of the members of the Consulting board of Engineers of the Panama Canal says that the Canal will be finished by 1915 or that ten years will be sufficient for the completion of the big ditch. This estimate is semi-official and is the first of its kind to be made. Mr. Randolph has just returned with the Commission from the Isthmus after having made an exhaustive examination of the work to be done and the conditions there. It is claimed that his prediction that the work will be completed in ten years will be confirmed by the majority of the other members of the board which if it is true will furnish the public the most welcome news it has had about the canal recently. The commission will give out a great deal more information about the Canal in its official report which is about due, and will also make a report on the disbursement of the ten million dollars appropriated by Congress. Mr. Randolph believes that the introduction of the eight hour labor system on the Isthmus has been a serious mistake, that will add twenty-five per cent to the cost of the canal, as much more to the delay in completion and be without adequate results to the workman. Secretary Taft has been one of the prominent men most opposed to the eight hour labor law in the Canal work and his predictions as to the added cost and time are fully confirmed by Mr. Randolph. The latter acknowledges that the climate and food conditions are not perfect but he states that the inconveniences and depri vations there have been greatly magnified. He does not commit himself in regard to the proposition to award the work to private contractors who will not observe the eight hour law but it is known that Secretary Taft is heartily in favor of this change and he is supported by many prominent business men who believe that this is the best, if not the only way the work will ever be done.

The social season is beginning in Washington and before the first of the year when the season of official entertaining begins the program of social affairs will have been completed. Since the White House has been occupied by President Roosevelt and his family society in Washington has received such an impetus that the season has been lengthened at both ends. Previously nothing of any importance occurred in the fashionable world until after the first of January when the President's reception to the public and the Cabinet receptions took place Then until the beginning of Lent official and society people were fairly busy. Now however that period of about six weeks is far too short and a Spring season corresponding in a way to the social season in England has been introduced and people no longer wait for the New Years reception before sending out invitations for all sorts of smart affairs. Programs of entertainments are made out during the summer and many society people come back from the summer vacation with invitations ready, caterers orders given and every plan complete for an entire season of entertaining. Mrs. Roosevelt has returned from her trip South with the president and she is never long in Washington without inaugurating some entertainment for her friends and official acquaintances. Miss Alice Roosevelt, who has just returned from the Phillipines, Japan and China is once more in the White House after an absence of several months. Her return is the occasion for much rejoicing among the younger set for in spite of her delicate appearance she is indefatigable in the pursuit of social distraction. Her presents which have been of so much discussion in the newspapers will attract a great deal of attention here and there will doubtless be an exhibition of them, privately to her friends and probably later in the Corcoran Art Gallery for the benefit of the public. Already the Diplomatic corps has returned to the city and the usual exchange of courtesies between the Cabinet women and the wives of Ambassadors will begin. Ambassadors' wives go as soon as possible to call upon the President and upon the Vice President and Mrs. Fairbanks. All other Diplomats and society in general do the same. Secretary of State Root and Mrs. Root will call upon the Ambassador's families and no matter what the fancy of these official hostesses there are hard and fast rules which they dare not disobey.

Convulsion, Fits, then Epilepsy.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine has been so successful in curing these brain-wrecking diseases that there is every reason to believe that even the most hopeless cases can be benefited, if not fully restored.

We will be pleased to refer any one thus afflicted to many who now enjoy the blessing of health, after years of hopeless suffering.

"I have a son that had brain fever when two years old, followed by fits of the worst type, and he was pronounced incurable. I spent hundreds of dollars for him, without relief. After about fifteen years he became so bad that we sent him to Longcliff hospital for the insane, at Logansport, Ind. He was there nearly three years, but he continued to grow worse, so we brought him home July 30, 1902, in an awful condition. He had lost his mind almost entirely. He hardly knew one of the family; could not even find his bed; was a total wreck. He had from 5 to 10 fits a day. We were urged to try Dr. Miles' Nervine, and before the first bottle was used, we could see a change for the better. We have given it to him ever since, and he has had but two very light spells since last August, 1903, and then he was not well other ways. We pronounce him cured, as he can work and go anywhere. If any one wishes to ask any questions concerning this, they are at liberty to do so."

E. H. BUNNELL, Lincoln, Ind.

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money.

NATURAL GAS IN 1904

Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia and Indiana Produced Ninety-Three Per Cent

Pennsylvania Leads With Almost One Half of the Total Production—Estimated Output 256,000,000,000 Cubic Feet

An interesting report on the production of natural gas in this country during 1904 will soon be published by the United States Geological Survey. This paper, of which Mr. F. H. Oliphant is the author, contains much valuable information about the composition, production, consumption and uses of this ideal household fuel.

The United States is especially blessed in its possession, as it produced 98 per cent of the entire known world's production of natural gas in 1904. This production amounted approximately to 256,645,000,000 cubic feet, or 6,159,480 tons of 2,000 pounds. The value of this production was $38,496,760, which was an increase of $2,688,900 over the value of the 1903 production. There was much active work in 1904 in the new fields of central Ohio and southeastern Kansas. In Kansas a number of remarkably large wells were developed. A large amount was expended in drilling wells, extending many pipe lines, and piping cities and villages in these states. In West Virginia a considerable number of new wells of large capacity were drilled and connected to the main lines.

Four states, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Indiana and Ohio, produced 93.3 per cent of the entire value of natural gas produced in the United States in 1904. The output of Pennsylvania alone represented 47 per cent of the entire value. This is interesting when it is remembered that Pennsylvania is the oldest producing natural gas in large quantity.

Ask More Pay for Pastors.

Among the bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church in session in Washington this week the opinion is expressed that the pay of the ministers has not increased in proportion to the constantly increasing cost of living.

"Salaries paid the clergy," said Bishop J. F. Berry, of Buffalo," are none too good at best, and, taking the country over, have remained stationary for some time. Living expenses have been growing year after year, they will be higher this year than last and the church people ought to meet this situation in the material way so necessary even for members of the clergy."

Bishop W. F. Mallalieu, of Boston, also said salaries are not commensurate with the demands the ministers of the churches of all denominations have to meet. He added:—

"I think the rank and file of the Methodist Episcopal ministry is the most heroic and self-sacrificing body of men on earth. They are not paid as they should be, nor is their salary, in many cases sufficient to meet their many needs."

The "popularizing of the pulpit" manifest in some churches does not meet with the approval of the bishops.

What's In a Name

Such names as Sumatra tobacco, Mocha coffee, etc., are merely trade names and do not necessarily imply that the article was imported from the country after which it was named. For instance, we have a variety of apple called the Tompkins County King. It originated in Tompkins county, New York, but if the whole county were one vast orchard it could not produce all the Tompkins County Kings that are sent to market. Sumatra tobacco is now successfully grown in the Connecticut valley, around Elmira, New York, and in Lancaster county, Pennsylvania. And what is more, it is a better tobacco than the far away island ever produced. Mocha, Java and Rio coffee are picked from the same bush, and carefully graded, the higher priced varieties receiving more attention in curing, etc. Scotch and Irish whiskey, Holland gin and different brands of French wines are extensively manufactured in this country, and exported to the countries whose name they bear.

Monetary Value of Reform

Nearly Eight Hundred Thousand Dollars Saved in Philadelphia in Five Months.

The Philadelphia Record says: In less than five months of partial independence from the Machine the mayor has saved the city $350,000 by cancelling a contract for sand for the filter beds, held by the Durham-McNichol firm, and reletting it; $160,000 on the removal of garbage by securing competition, which the Machine always prevented; $118,205 on electric lighting by announcing that he was going to find out what other cities paid for that service and why Philadelphia could not have as cheap electric lights as they; $105,728 on street cleaning by rejecting the first bids because they were too high, and $53,000 in architects' commissions, presumably by dispensing with the services of Israel W. Durham's architectural brother-in-law. These items aggregate $786,953, and to them must be added the untold millions saved to the city by rescuing the gas works from the robbery the Machine had almost completed, and considerable amounts saved by economies in the running expenses of the city departments.

Eight hundred thousand dollars would build ten sectional school houses or pave thirty-four miles of streets with asphalt, the cost of which Mayor Weaver has reduced from $2.59, the price prevailing when he took office, to $1.52, the price at which contracts for several miles of paving were recently awarded.

Besides these monetary savings the mayor has taken the policemen out of politics and set them to serving the city. He has opened city employment to any person—regardless of pull—who can show the highest degree of fitness for it. He has led the Reading Railway to raise its offer to pay one-third of the cost of abolishing grade crossings to one-half and if the total cost should be $8,000,000, this alone is more than $1,300,000. Most of these things have been accomplished in four or five months. From them any one can see what an honest administration of the city, for the benefit of the people and not for that of the contractors, would amount to in four or five years.

Danville & Sunbury Trolley.

It is not thought likely that anything more will be done on the construction of the Danville and Sunbury line until next spring, when the road will be carried to DeWitt's Park and on to Sunbury. The company contemplates putting on a closed car in a short time for service during the winter. It is claimed that the traffic between the Hospital for the Insane and Pennsylvania station at South Danville is sufficient to pay running expenses and to leave a margin.

Between the present and spring the management of the Danville and Sunbury line will rest in the hands of A. H. Woolley.

THE SOUTH SIDE.

EDITOR COLUMBIAN.

In your last week's Editorial on "The South Side," you present a strong and logical argument why the South side voter should not cast his vote for two Commissioners from the South side, and especially why Mr. Schuck is not entitled to that vote.

The South side heartily endorses your views in reference to disgruntled independent candidates and we believe will vote the straight ticket as nominated at the June Convention in strict accordance with the party rules. They will do this not so much perhaps through fear of losing the benefit of the so called "South Side Rule", but because they honestly believe in the justice of the rule and will not neglect this oppsrtunity of demonstrating the honesty of their claims and their true Democracy in sustaining the party rules. Moreover we believe that the South side has in the past more consistently voted the straight ticket than any other section of the County. This being true, we of the South side, naturally take exceptions to the reasons assigned in your last week's editorial why two candidates from the South side received the highest vote for Commissioner. Your claim that this happened because the South side largely voted for two South side candidates, whilst the North voted for one from each side of the river, is not borne out by the facts and is therefore unfair and unjust to the South side. An examination of the returns will show that the North side candidates received collectively their fair proportion of votes on the South side, but that vote was divided among five candidates whereas of the North side candidates, two of them received almost the entire vote. This naturally gave each of these two more votes than any of the five from the North side. Moreover when the question was brought before the Convention, Mr. Hess received not only the solid North side vote but that of a number of the South side members as well as the Chairman who was also from the South side. These facts ought to fairly exonerate the South side from the charge of trying to get something that is not due them.

As was said before we heartily endorse your call for all Democrats to vote for one Candidate from each side of the river, and we believe that the South side will not neglect this opportunity of demonstrating that they were honest in demanding this rule. It would certainly be inconsistent and undemocratic to do otherwise.

Let every South side voter bear this in mind, and by voting the straight ticket not only show their rights to the protection of this rule, but at the same time their disapproval of the selfish and undemocratic practice of attempting to disrupt the party by running independent after failure to make the nomination under the rules, which every Candidate in his primary announcement binds himself to respect. Vote the straight Democratic ticket from top to bottom, and we of the South side will show our loyalty to the party.

SOUTH SIDE.

WHAT THEY OBJECT TO.

Where the Farmers Stand as Regards Hunting.

The hunters who rail against the land owner who posts trespass notice on his property should realize the fact that the farmer has just as much right to protect himself as the city resident has to prevent any person from tramping over his lawn. Instead of blaming the farmer, the hunter should place the responsibility for the strict enforcement of the trespass law upon the shoulders of the careless hunter who has made life miserable for the owners of lands in the rural districts. There are hunters and hunters. The farmers do not wish to prevent the glorious sport of hunting. What they do object to is the vandalism of the gunner who cares not what damage he does while in pursuit of game. This kind of hunter is in the minority, and the majority of sportsmen must suffer because of the wrongful acts of the lesser number of gun carriers. It would be a good plan for the grumbling hunter to put himself in the farmer's place and see how, as the land owner, he would like to have his property over run by thoughtless gunners.

C. A. SMALL'S DENIAL.

Bloomsburg, Pa., Nov. 1st, 1905
To the Voters of Columbia County:

In view of the fact that the editorials conceived in the fertile mind of J. C Brown and published for the past several weeks in the Columbia County Republican, which are without foundation, in which he has taken the liberty of using my name with Judge Krickbaum and C. L. Sands I take this method of informing the public that I emphatically deny every word in those editorials. I never had a conference with Judge Krickbaum, C. L. Sands or with any other person at my office or at any other place as outlined in the Republican, owned and controlled by the agents who take orders in this county from Durham and Penrose, the Philadelphia Machine and Gang leaders.

I am and always have been loyal to my party and its candidates.

The same source that circulated and wrote these editorials has heretofore circulated and published all kinds of slanderous stories about me.

No one knows better than J. C. Brown himself that every word in those editorials is a deliberate falsehood.

I most respectfully solicit the support of the Voters of Columbia County for District Attorney, and pledge to them a clean, honest, faithful and economical administration.

Very Respectfully,
CHRISTIAN A. SMALL.

P. S. I notice that the editorials above referred to are being published, (of course) as paid advertisements by the gang in several newspapers of the county.

Climax in Looting Operations.

The tragedy in Allegheny City last week is a climax in the record of the systematic looting of the State Treasury. The suicide of T. Lee Clark, cashier of the Enterprise National bank is another startling incident in the "trail of blood and boodle" which has marked the gang control of the fiscal affairs of the Commonwealth for nearly a third of a century. Desperate on account of the financial straits into which he was driven by political pirates, he ended his mental anguish and physical existence with a bullet and when the information was conveyed to those who were the cause of his misfortunes they said it was a pity and dismissed the subject.

How long is this record of crime to continue? Since the suicide of Blake Walters twenty-five years ago halt a dozen lives have been sacrificed in the rapacity of this machine and as many more absolutely ruined. The reply to the record is, however, that the State has never lost a cent. The value of men's lives and honor is not measured in money and yet the death and destruction of so many men must be a pecuniary loss. But accepting the estimate of Quay that "when a politician dies he leaves only what is found on him," and that the victims of his system were worth nothing to the world, it is not certain that the State has escaped loss. There is a strong suspicion that the present treasury surplus is made up largely of worthless obligations.

Eight months ago a trust company in Lancaster failed with an obligation to the State of $45,000 which has not been paid and it is certain that the more than a million in the bankrupt Allegheny City bank is a present loss. Possibly owing to the peculiar conditions now existing that money will be recovered speedily. Political exigencies are more important to machine politicians than personal honor and in the hope of escape from party disaster the money of the State may be made good. But the people will never know how much has been lost in that and other bank wrecks until the machine control of the Treasury is brought to an end, and the coming election affords the opportunity to accomplish that result.—Bellefonte Watchman.

AN ACTIVE COMMITTEE

Chairman Clinton Herring of the Democratic County Committee, has been carrying on an aggressive campaign, and if there is not a large Democratic vote out next Tuesday it will not be his fault. The work that has been done has not been of the brass band order, but has been directed towards effecting a perfect organization so that a full vote will be polled. In his efforts he has been ably assisted by the Executive Committee. Democrats should show their appreciation of the work of the Chairman and the Committee by a big vote.

Go to the polls and vote early. Let there be no stay-at-home Democrats.

The Republicans are making an extra effort to elect their candidate for District Attorney this fall. If the Democrats stick to the ticket, they can't do this.

A supper will be served in the Parish House by the ladies of St. Paul's Church on Saturday evening, November 11th. Price 15 cents, ice cream and cake extra.

Democrats have no call to support independent candidates. We have nothing to expect from them in the way of party support, and a vote for an independent candidate is a blow at party supremacy and party unity. Your convention nominated Messrs. Pohe and Hess for county commissioners in accordance with the rules of the party, and they deserve and are entitled to your support. See that they get it.

C. A. Small, Esq., the Democratic nominee for district attorney, is one of Bloomsburg's most successful young lawyers. He has served the party as county chairman and has responded cheerfully to every call made upon him by the party. He will devote his entire attention to the duties of the office, so far as is necessary, and will administer its affairs without fear or favor. He is entitled to the vote of every Democrat in Columbia county.

Frank W. Miller, the Democratic candidate for Register and Recorder, is a young man of more than ordinary ability. He was brought up near Numidia, this county, and worked on his father's farm, and taught school for a number of years. Mr. Miller is a man of sterling character, courteous, and highly esteemed by all who know him. He and his father have always been active workers in the party, and he is entitled to every Democratic vote in the county.

Anthony Yorks of Numedia was struck by a Lehigh Valley train near Mt. Carmel on Tuesday morning, and his legs cut off, and his head badly cut. He was driving his team, and when crossing the track he saw an engine coming and became confused. He jumped out of the rear of his wagon directly in front of the engine. The horses and wagon were not injured. He was taken to the home of his brother in Mt. Carmel where he died in afternoon. Mr. Yorks was a Polander and was aged 60 years. He leaves a wife and several children.

A vote for the democratic ticket is a vote for reform in Pennsylvania. It cannot be doubted that reform is needed. Show by your ballot that we are ready to assert our rights as citizens, that we refuse to pay tribute to Penrose and Durham by voting with the l ttle republican bosses. Voters, throw off the yoke of the Philadelphia machine which has crippled the legislation favorable to the interest of the tax payers for the past decade, in this commonwealth. Assert your rights on November 7th, 1905, and see to it that your neighbor does not forget his duty.

Next Tuesday is election day. There ought not to be a single Democrat in Columbia county who will wake up on Wednesday morning to hear the election returns, anb feel that he has no part in it because he did not vote. There is going to be an upheaval in this state, and every man who has any pride in his American citizenship ought to vote next Tuesday. The issuein this election is more important to Pennsylvanians than a Presidential election. Shall we lift the lid of the treasury and find out just what there is in it, or shall the public moneys be controlled by a few bosses who for twenty-five years have been using the state's money for their own benefit? That is the issue in the state election. Go and vote for Berry.

RECEPTION AT BERWICK.

The reception given by Mrs. S. P. Hanly and Mrs. Elsabeth Oswald last Saturday evening in honor of William Woodin Hanly and his bride, was a most enjoyable affair. A large number of guests were present, and the beautiful home was made more attractive by profuse decorations of cut flowers and palms. An orchestra stationed in an upper room furnished excellent music throughout the evening, and delicious refreshments were served in the dining room by Mrs. Dodson and her corps of assistants. The large porch was enclosed by canvas, and warmed by oil stoves, and this was used by the gentlemen as a smoking room. All of the arrangements were perfect and the function was a great succes.

Most of the Bloomsburg guests went up on the 7.30 trolley, returning at 11. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. S. Wigtall, Mr. and Mrs. A. Z. Schuch, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Elwell, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. # ANOTHER LIFE SACRIFICED TO RAPACITY OF THE GANG

Cashier Clark, of Allegheny, Commits Suicide to Escape Importunities of Treasury Looters.

Having Involved Him Hopelessly in the Toils of Frenzied Finance the Gang Abandons Him to a Dishonored Grave --- "The Bank Has Been Robbed by a Lot of Politicians," Was the Despairing Comment of Its Deceived President.

A RECORD OF HORROR AND SHAME

The failure of the Enterprise National Bank, of Allegheny City, and the suicide of its cashier, T. Lee Clarke, is a climax in the trail of "blood and boodle," which has marked the control of the fiscal affairs of the commonwealth by the Republican machine during a third of a century.

Favored By the Gang.

The Enterprise National Bank, of Allegheny City, has been favored by the machine to a singular degree. As far back as 1900 it held one-tenth of the treasury surplus and that ratio has never been diminished, though according to exigencies it has been increased at intervals. Its balance, moreover, has been regulated by its necessities. For example, according to the statement of the state treasurer a $50,000 check was drawn against the balance on the last day of September. It didn't suit the bank to give up that amount at that time and the cashier notified State Treasurer Mathues of the fact, whereupon he drew a check for the amount in favor of the Enterprise Bank and mailed it at once.

The Enterprise National Bank, of Allegheny City, has a capital of $200,000 and no prudent custodian of trust funds would put in its vaults on deposit more than the aggregate of its capital. But according to the records of the state treasury there was in 1892 $417,000 of state money, general fund, on deposit in the institution. In 1903 this was increased to $712,000, and in 1904 to $767,000. At the time of the failure of the bank and suicide of the cashier the state deposit, including general and sinking fund, amounted to the prodigious total of $1,030,000.

Business Men Curious About It.

Naturally business men are curious to know the influences which secured for that particular bank the favor of the machine in such profligate proportions. They can't understand how business men can be hypnotized in that way. But a scrutiny of the records of the gang speculators and industrial operations makes the matter entirely clear. That is about the time that "Bull" Andrews and his associates in the New Mexican railroad enterprise began operations the first considerable increase in the state deposit of the Enterprise National Bank, of Allegheny City, occurred. The cashier of the bank, now in a suicide's grave, had undertaken to "finance" that operation with the funds of the state deposited in his bank. As the demands for money increased the state deposit was augmented, and finally when the bank had been ruined and exposure inevitable the cashier settled his troubles and cancelled his obligations by blowing his brains out, just as other victims of gang rapacity had done before him.

Cashier Victim of Gang Rapacity.

That the Enterprise National Bank, of Allegheny City, and its unfortunate cashier are victims of the machine admits of no doubt. When the crash came the unsuspecting president of the institution, Mr. Frederick Gwinner, was overwhelmed. Mr. Gwinner is an honest, industrious German-American whose reputation for probity and intelligence was the mainstay of the institution. He trusted the cashier implicitly and the information of the disaster came to him like a bolt of lightning from a clear sky. After he had recovered from his astonishment he made the following statement:

"The bank has been robbed by a lot of politicians. I know nothing of the affairs of the bank. I have never been paid a cent salary. For three years I have demanded of the directors that they accept my resignation, but they held to using my name.

"I was not under salary, nor will I be held responsible for the doings of Clarke or anyone else connected with the bank. The only thing I will pay is about $50,000 which my relatives put in there at my special request. They believed it safe, and put it there at my solicitation, and they must be protected. Further than that I will not go. I was euchred many years ago in the smash of the Bank of Manchester, which went down on the site of the present Enterprise Bank, and that was enough for me."

President Gwinner Deceived.

Subsequently Mr. Gwinner was interviewed and said:

"Did you know that Clarke and ex-Senator Andrews had been carrying securities of about $400,000 in the bank and the controller refused to accept this paper?" Mr. Gwinner was asked.

"No, I did not know what this concern, the Pennsylvania Development Company, was. I tried to find out, and none of the directors could tell me anything about the company. But the Pennsylvania Development Company only had $200,000 in securities in the bank. If there is any more paper from this company I don't know about it."

"What is this Pennsylvania Development Company?" Mr. Gwinner asked. He was told for the first time that the development company had been fostered by William H. Andrews, T. Lee Clarke, Francis J. Torrance, Arthur Kennedy and others.

"How much state deposit did the Enterprise Bank have?" Mr. Gwinner was asked.

"I don't know, but I think about $600,000."

"Don't you know that at the last report, October 1, the bank had $582,000 of current state funds, and had previously been given $300,000 of the sinking fund, which does not need to be published by the state treasurer or your bank?"

"Yes, I remember that it was something like that, but about two weeks ago the state treasurer withdrew $150,000, and yesterday the bank received $50,000 as a deposit from the state treasurer. I don't know the exact amount we have at present, but it is something such as you mention. This would make about $782,000 the state has deposited in the Enterprise Bank. About a year ago the bank carried $1,100,000 of state funds, and the bank is only capitalized at $200,000."

Donations For Campaign.

"How did you come to get this state deposit?" Mr. Gwinner was asked. "That's what I asked Clarke," he replied. "Clarke told me he had only to give the Republican Campaign Committee a donation each year, and this is how he got the money.

"In insisted that he had to give something for the use of the money. I could not believe that the state treasurer would give us so much money unless we gave him something in return. But Clarke only insisted he had paid some money to the Campaign Committee.

"'Does the money you gave to the campaign show on the books?' I asked Clarke. He said no; there was nothing to indicate that he had given politicians any money.

"'Then how do you account for the money if you don't put it on the books?' I said.

"'Oh, you leave that to me,' Clarke said, and he waved me off. He always jollied me along when I wanted to know what was going on."

POLITICAL OBLIGATIONS MYSTERIOUSLY ABSTRACTED FROM BANK ASSETS

The Frenzied Financiers of the "Gang" who were caught in the wreck of the Enterprise National Bank of Allegheny City are taking desperate chances in an effort to destroy the evidences of their responsibility for that disaster. In other words, they have stolen or had secreted the notes which represented their obligations to the bank for the state funds taken out for their individual uses.

Notes which the bank should hold for large loans to politicians and others are reported missing. Their face value is probably several hundred thousand dollars. The total of this loss is one of the secrets which Receiver Cunningham is keeping to himself. One report is that it will reach as high as $600,000.

The most careful and repeated searching among the bank papers has failed to bring the notes to light, although the records of the institution show that they should be there.

They are believed to represent the loans which the directors of the broken concern say were made by T. Lee Clark, the suicide cashier, without the knowledge of the board.

Clark, before he ended, with a pistol ball, the troubles which were heaped upon him by the Gang, may have destroyed or hidden them. There is evidence that for some months prior to the crash the bank papers were badly mixed.

Among the notes which the receiver has found are said to be some old ones, on which the time had expired, with nothing to indicate that they had been paid or renewed. The system by which operations were conducted is one of the deepest mysteries which the government's bank experts have ever been called upon to solve.

The possibility is suggested that the politicians who got the money on overdue and unrenewed notes, after pocketing the spoil obtained through Clark, left the cashier to his fate. Then, unable to make good the loss or explain, he killed himself.

If the missing notes are never found, it will be an immense relief to those politicians who got the money on them. The bank records are believed to be so imperfect as not to reveal their names.

Failure to find the notes which [illegible] of the things which is delaying the report of Receiver Cunningham. Secretive as he has been from the start of his investigations, the receiver would say neither yes nor no whether it were true that notes for large sums are missing.

CASTLE DARES THE GANG TO ARREST HIM

Homer L Castle, law partner of former Governor William A. Stone, of Pittsburg, made a speech in New Castle, Pa., on Tuesday evening, October 24. It will be remembered that it was Mr. Castle who first called attention to the perilous condition of the Enterprise Bank, of Allegheny City, and forged the chain of evidence which convicted the gang politicians of manipulating the treasury balance and using the state funds for personal purposes.

On the morning of the day of the New Castle speech the Pittsburg Gazette, the gang organ of Western Pennsylvania, owned and directed by George W. Oliver, denounced Mr. Castle vehemently. "He ought to be arrested," the gang organ shrieked. Replying to this in his New Castle speech Mr. Castle said:

"This paper says I should be arrested for these things," said Castle. "Of course I should. I should be arrested and dragged before the court and made to prove the charges that I have made. I am a lawyer and at least should have some knowledge of law.

"I admit I should be arrested for making these charges, and made to prove them. But I have not been arrested. I am as free today as you are. And why? Because they do not dare place me on the stand. It would be to their disadvantage.

"If I were arrested and put on trial there would be a great many other things, some of them worse, perhaps, to come out. If I were arrested I would prove everything I have said, and more too.

"I certainly agree with the statements made by this Pittsburg newspaper. I should be arrested. But I won't be. I am not worrying about that, and I hope the newspaper is not. Nothing would give me greater satisfaction than to have this matter come to a court trial. But there's no such good news.

"We have these people where we want them now. Everything they say helps along our cause, and everything they do helps us. Now it is up to you. If you want to help us out, after we have showed you the way, just drop in your ballot for William H. Berry. That will help some."

PLUMMER WANTONLY INSULTED THE BEE KEEPERS OF THE STATE

Refused to Consider a Propisition to Fight a Fatal Disease Among Bees.

The Pennsylvania State Bee Keepers' Association is nursing a grievance against J. Lee Plummer for unceremoniously turning down their committee and a proposed measure of legislation providing for legal means of getting rid of destructice bee diseases in this state.

Pennsylvania has 30,000 persons engaged in greater or lesser extent in the industry of bee culture. These persons are scattered all over the state, but primarily in the northern counties. The value of the product of the hives of the state is variously estimated, but it is believed that $2,000,000 is a conservative statement of the aggregate. The records of the association, less than two years old, is of a product of 1,000,000 pounds, and only a few persons are enrolled in the organization, though in the matter of the legislation the committee represented the total number.

For some years the bees have been suffering from the ravages of some insidious disease, not only in Pennsylvania, but in other states in which the industry receives attention. The nature of the malady has not yet been discovered, but it is malignant and fatal. In other states legislation was enacted to fight the disease, and the Pennsylvania association was formed with the view of inaugurating a similar defensive movement in this state. It had proved helpful elsewhere, and those concerned in the industry believed that good results would follow here.

With this object in view, a bill was drafted at the instance of this state society and put into the hands of a prominent representative in the legislature during the last session, and a committee appointed to urge its passage. The measure was referred first to the committee on Agriculture of the house, properly, but inasmuch as it carried a small appropriation it was necessary to send it ultimately to the committee, of which J. Lee Plummmer was chairman, though the agricultural committee strongly recommended its passage.

Mr. Plummer constantly refused to give the state society's committee or representatives a hearing, and as they chanced to see him one day and asked for a hearing to explain the object of the bill he remarked with a vile oath, "What in the h— do you fellows want, anyway? It is nothing but money, money, money." The members of the committee reminded him that if he did not want to talk about the expenditure of the state's money for the citizens he should not have accepted the chairmanship of the state committee.

They thereupon decided that regardless of politics they would not officially but individually for those who chose let their fellow bee keepers and other agriculturists in this state know of the vile and insolent manner in which they were received by one who now appeals to them for election to a high and important office in the state.

Carnegie Says They Unfit A Man For Commercial Work.

FAVORS PUBLIC SCHOOLS

University Education Tends to Make a Clergyman a Religious Anarchist—The Inconsistency of Compelling Sailors to Study the Classics.

An American who was recently a guest of Andrew Carnegie at Skibo Castle sends to the New York World from Scotland an account of his visit, from which the following is an excerpt:

The subject of education came up. A learned Dutch baron declared that many people are over-educated.

"Yes," remarked Mr. Carnegie, "Lord Reay, here, who speaks five languages, knows too much."

In reply to a question, the philosopher of Skibo launched out this way:

"One of the aberations of the age is the sacrifice of time to ancient classics on the part of young men preparing for a business career. A man with a university education is a man lost to commerce. A young man who begins business at 18 is very much better off than he who spends three or four years in a university studying old ruffians who lived 2,000 years ago. Studying skirmishes among savages in the classics is no preparation for a man going into the iron, steel or coal business. Greek and Latin are no more use than Choctaw, except to the few. Why should English sailors have to learn the language of Virgil, Horace and Cicero? English officers study classics. What's the result? They have foolish courage. Instead of saving themselves they allow themselves to be shot and say they are dying for their country. I prefer an officer who would make an intelligent run when neccssary and then come back and live for his country."

"Do you condemn university education for all?"

"By no means. I am speaking of the uselessness of university education for the young man who has to make his way in life. The man who is born to wealth can do as he pleases. He has no interest for me. He rarely amounts to anything, any way. Those preparing for professional pursuits should go to the university by all means."

"Do you make any exception?"

"Yes; clergymen. University education injures them. It leads them to higher criticism. They begin to pick flaws in the Bible. They moment they begin that they are done for; they are no good for religion. They lead to intellectual and religious anarchy."

A remark by Mr. Carnegie about looking to the masses of the people to cure social ills led to a conversation upon democracy.

"Are you still as devout a believer in the people as when you wrote 'Triumphant Democracy,' Mr. Carnegie," I queried.

"Yes," he replied. "Years have made me love that teaching more and more. If democracy does not succeed, then there is no hope for humanity. The classes have failed; now democracy is getting a show. I have no fear for democracy in America. When things begin to go seriously wrong there the people set them right with a sudden jerk."

"What is the greatest American institution?" I asked.

"The public school house."

"What makes America so great?"

"Equality and the fact that its foundation was laid by a colonizing race."

"Does your republicanism diminish by absence?"

"No. It increases. I am more republican than if I had been born in America, for I realize better the meaning of the word republic. The great thing is to be a citizen and not a subject."

Talking of annexation, he said: "Canada will yet annex us; so will Mexico. Both will ask the privilege of coming into the Union. We will not force them. The request if properly proffered will not be refused. We should have taken Canada in the War of Independence. It would have been just as easy."

From this the conversation drifted to temperance. Turning to one of his guests, who had the stuff of a social reformer in him, Mr. Carnegie said:

"I have the best temperance lecture in Scotland. I give an increase of 10 per cent in their wages to all my men who come to me at the end of the year and tell me they have been total abstainers. It works like a charm. They are all temperate; all have money in the bank. My young chauffeur might retire tomorrow, and the interest on his money would bring in $600 a year."

"Do they ever pretend to be abstainers when they are not?" I asked.

"No. A Scotchman will not lie to you. He knows his Bible and his Burns. It may be the Bible, but I think it is the influence of the national poet, who taught them that 'a man is a man for a' that.'"

Elephants' Milk.

The milk of an average cow contains about 4 per cent of cream; nearly 20 per cent of the elephant's milk is cream. Even buffalo milk is about twice as rich as cow's milk, and the creamiest of all, that of the porpoise, actually holds over 45 per cent of cream, says Knowledge.

Decline in Sheep.

Statistics show that the flocks of the world have declined at least 93,000,000 head since 1873, an average of more than 3,000,000 annually. If the world is eating up its sheep, is it not sensible to conclude that the value of mutton must hold firm for many years to come.

TIRED OUT.

There's many a wife sits in the growing shadows of an evening, knowing what it is to feel tired out; as if there was not another ounce of effort left in her. But if healthy she knows how sound her slumber will be and how refreshed the morning will find her. But it's another thing for the sick woman to feel tired out. Rest only seems to increase her suffering. She feels acutely the aching back and throbbing nerves. Sick women, hundreds of thousands of them, have been made well by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"I am pleased to inform you of the benefit I received from using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Mrs. Elizabeth A. Oswold, of 45 Brant Street, Windsor, Essex Co., Ontario, Canada. "Was quite discouraged when I wrote asking your advice, as the physicians here told me I could get no relief except by an operation. Suffered for four years from irregular and profuse menstruation, had sick and nervous headaches most of the time, and at times could hardly walk across the floor from weakness. I thank God there is such a remedy as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for suffering women. Before I had taken the first bottle the headaches had left me and it was not long before regularity was established and still continues so. Have just finished house-cleaning which I never expected to be able to do again, and can truly say I never felt better than at present. I gladly recommend 'Favorite Prescription' to all who suffer from female weakness. It has cured me and made me stronger in every way. Neither my husband nor myself can say enough in its praise."

The selfish seller who urges some substitute is thinking of the larger profit he'll make and not of your best good.

RABBIT SEASON NOW OPEN

The season for hunting rabbits or hares opened yesterday, November 1st, and continues during the month.

The game laws with their several amendments have become quite complicated and unless persons are careful they will be led astray and may commit a viclation of the law in spite of their efforts to avoid such a contingency. It is much to be regretted that just on the eve of the opening of the season there should be so much uncertanity as to the law on rabbits.

An article is going the rounds of the newspapers to the effect that in the opinion of the Hazleton Game and Fish Protective Association the State has issued two kinds of game law books and that there is a discrepancy between them, one of the books stating that the open season for rabbits begins on November 1st and expires on December 1st and the other that the season opens on November 1st and extends to December 15th.

Persons who pin their faith to a "Digest of the Game Laws" by Dr. Joseph Kalbfus, need make no mistake, as to the rabbit or any other kind of game. Dr. Kalbfus is Secretary of the State Game Commission and his "Digest" should be perfectly authoritative.

In the "Digest" in the Act of '97, section 8, the season is given from November 1st to December 15th, but if the reader is careful to note the amendment indicated at the bottom of the page he will see that by a later law (April 22nd, 1905) given on page 40, section 12, the open season for hare or rabbit is during the month of November each year, as set forth in the opening of this article. This probably explains the apparent discrepancy in the law that puzzles some people.

The penalty for killing a rabbit out of season is ten dollars.

Hiram Thomas was found dead on his porch in Mt. Pleasant township at half past five o'clock on Tuesday morning. He had gone out on the porch the evening before and his son, H. W. Thomas and family who resided with him, did not notice that he had not gone up to his room and retired. When found he had been dead for some time. His age was nearly 79 years. His whole life was spent in Mt. Pleasant township. The funeral will take place tomorrow morning in the Canby Lutheran church.

THE RISE OF GEO. W. PERKINS

Interesting Sketch of the Career of Enterprising Financier.

The annals of finance certainly do not chronicle an example parallel to that which characterized the career of George Walbridge Perkins, who, starting out in life as an office boy in an insurance company in Chicago when 15 years of age, has, in less than a quarter of a century, risen to the position of leading partner in the world renowned banking house of J. Pierpont Morgan & Co.

George Walbridge Perkins was born in Chicago on Jan. 31, 1862. There he was educated and received his training in business life. At the age of 15 he decided that he would enter into some business occupation and give up his schooling, preferring the practical lessons of business life to the theoretical ones of the school. Accordingly, he became an office boy in the employ of his father, then a western agent of the New York Life Insurance Co. of New York, under whose able tuition he acquired those habits of thrift, industry and application which have so conspicuously marked his career; and, with an ambitious youth's natural desire to record a successful career, he devoted himself from this humble start unsparingly and untiringly to the accomplishment of his purpose. This was in 1877. Two years thereafter he was promoted to the position of assistant bookkeeper in the Cleveland office of the New York Life. In 1883 he was made cashier in the same office. Then, in 1886, he was advanced to the position of solicitor for the insurance company. In 1888 he became the agency director at Denver, Col., for the New York Life and inspector of its agencies in the west in 1889. Then, on Feb. 29, 1892, Mr. Perkins, having familiarized himself so thoroughly and mastered the details of the business of the company, was elected third vice president of the New York Life, with headquarters at the home office in New York city, where he was placed in charge of the entire agency force of the company and won signal success. He was afterward advanced to membership in the board of trustees on May 10, 1893, promoted to the position of second vice president on April 13, 1898, and on Dec. 27, 1900, was elected chairman of the company's finance committee.

The great opportunities for large financial dealings at home and abroad which his connection with the New York Life afforded, Mr. Perkins commanded the attention of so eminent a banker as J. Pierpont Morgan, who then proffered him an important position in his banking house, an honor which Mr. Perkins at first declined, but afterward, on a second invitation, accepted, and in 1901 he became a partner in the banking firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., New York; Drexel, Morgan & Co., Philadelphia, and Morgan, Harjes & Co., Paris; but he did not relinquish his connection with the New York Life, of which he was elected vice president on May 13, 1903.

In his newer capacity as partner in the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co., Mr. Perkins proved himself shrewd in judgment, enterprising in projecting and able in execution. He has engineered some of the greatest deals of the Morgan firms, and in the few years he has been connected with the banking house he has reached a commanding position in the financial world.

Mr. Perkins, among other achievements for the New York Life, secured a new concession for that company from Australia, also a new concession from Switzerland and a new concession from Prussia. In 1899 he negotiated the first Russian loan ever placed in the United States, and in 1900 he was instrumental in placing the first German loan ever brought to the United States.

Mr. Perkins is one of the hardest workers, although a picture of healthy young manhood, standing almost six feet tall. "Hard work and strict attention to business have," he says, "been my rule of life," and this rule has undoubtedly achieved for him the success he has won.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

The Mysterious Ingredient.

The class in chemistry had made a thorough analysis of sea water, and the young man with the bad eye was making his report to the professor.

"In addition to the solids I have enumerated," he said, "such as common salt, or chloride of sodium, together with the various sulphates, carbonates, bromides, idodides and borates, not to mention lime and silica, and the gold, silver and copper held in solution, we find a perceptible trace of a substance which defies analysis. I have a theory concerning it, however, which I hesitate to mention, inasmuch as it only a hypothesis, and not capable of actual demonstration."

"Let us have your theory," said the professor.

"It is this, sir," the young man answered, with visible reluctance: It is an established principle in physics that nothing in the nature of matter is ever lost. It may be widely diffused among the elements but it is there. While it may fail to respond to chemical tests with sufficient distinctness to enable the investigator to classify it, nevertheless its presence must be recognized. Hence, I have come to the conclusion, professor, that the mysterious substance to which I have referred, and of which we find only the faintest trace, is the tea that was thrown overboard from those British ships in Boston harbor by patriots disguised as Indians on the evening of December 16, 1773—"

"You may take your seat, sir," sternly interrupted the professor.—Chicago Tribune.

LOOTING THE TREASURY

Trail of Blood and Boodle Through History of Spoliation.

Life and Honor Freely Sacrificed to Feed the Rapacity of Republican Machine Managers, Who For a Quarter of a Century Have Been Preying Upon the Industry and Energy of the People.

The history of the Pennsylvania state treasury is an ever interesting though essentially pride-chastening study for the people. For years it has been a prolific source of graft and from the time that the late Senator Quay became secretary of the commonwealth and ex-officio commissioner of the sinking fund, a "trail of blood and boodle" has marked its records. Vast surpluses were unknown a quarter of a century ago, the fiscal officers of the commonwealth having been capable if not always conscientious, so that the receipts and expenditures about balanced. But Quay soon discovered that the sinking fund was an available fountain of funds and by conspiracy with a subordinate official of the treasury he abstracted large amounts for use in speculative operations. Since the keen scent of cupidity discovered the possibilities that are in big surpluses, taxes have been multiplied to create vast balances.

In a speech delivered at Pottstown, September 23d, by Eugene C. Bonniwell, Esq., of Philadelphia, the shameful record of this pool of iniquity is fully revealed. Mr. Bonniwell said:

The supreme issue which concerns us today is honesty. Ought the common standards ordinarily applied in society and business to be flagitiously ignored in the conduct of public affairs, and the funds of the people of Pennsylvania placed at the disposal of corrupt politicians and stock gamblers? There can be no party lines upon this proposition.

No citizen professing to be reputable can support the so-called Republican ticket in this campaign simply because it is labeled Republican. John Jay, the first chief justice of the United States, aptly said that adherence to party has its limits, and they are marked and prescribed by that supreme wisdom which has united and associated true policy with honor, rectitude and self-respect.

The citadel which dominates the political battlefield of Pennsylvania is the state treasury. From its vaults have issued again and again the funds that have corrupted legislatures, debauched constituencies, nourished bankrupt politicians and financed colossal gambles for the enrichment of so-called statesmen.

The citizen worthy of the name who proposes to vote for the Republican nominee for state treasurer must do so on one of two grounds—either the conduct of the state treasury in the past has been of so meritorious an order as to justify the continuance of Republican control, or the character of the Republican nominee is so signally inspiriting as to make certain an honest conduct of the office despite his political affiliations. Tried by either of these tests the Republican organization hopelessly fails.

Record of Flagrant Dishonesty.

Lest the frightful trail of dishonesty and blood of wrecked homes and broken hearts has become less than a memory, permit me to recapitulate the known history of the state treasury. Within our own time when Samuel Butler, an honest man, was elected treasurer of the state of Pennsylvania, in 1879, he refused to receipt for the assets of the treasury because of the fact that $260-,000 was represented by nothing more than promissory notes of certain politicians. It was never denied that this money was taken out by Matthew Stanley Quay and lost in stock speculations. When exposure became imminent Blake Walters, cashier of the state treasury, shot and killed himself.

Amos C. Noyes, the retiring treasurer, a man of such rugged honesty that he was known as "Square Timber" Noyes, took to his bed and died within a few months of a broken heart, and nothing save the action of Don Cameron in contributing the $260-000 in cash for political purposes, prevented a public scandal that should have driven the Republican administration from power. It was asserted that at that time Quay contemplated suicide.

Undeterred by the murder of these two men, in 1885 and thereafter, Quay having been elected state treasurer that year, renewed his raids on the state treasury. Following his brief term W. B. Hart was elected state treasurer and his friends have always believed that his untimely death was caused by the frightful knowledge of the condition of the state treasury.

Livesy succeeded Hart. In 1888 another colossal raid was made on the state treasury. With the assistance of A. Wilson Norris, then auditor general of Pennsylvania, Quay secured from Livesy $400,000 with which to purchase stock in a Chicago traction deal. So deeply did his connection with this case bear upon Norris that before the end of the summer of 1888 he had drunk himself to death.

The colored messenger of the state department, named Warren, who had helped Norris carry the securities to Philadelphia, was was found drowned in the Susquehanna canal, and William Livesy, in 1891, fled from the state of Pennsylvania and has never returned.

Forced to Divide the Loot.

Before he died Norris left a letter addressed to Senator Quay, requesting him to see that his widow received the $10,000 which was his share of this gigantic steal. When Quay refused Mrs. Norris placed the matter in the hands of Biddle & Ward, a distinguished firm of lawyers. The response was instant and it is a curious commentary upon the condition of affairs in Philadelphia that the gentleman who then stepped in as representing Mr. Quay, and forestalled a public scandal of overwhelming proportions, was the same gentleman who within a few months has sought to erect himself into a bulwark between outraged citizens of Philadelphia and demoralized machine politicians. That eminently respectable member of the Union League of Philadelphia, who settled the Quay case with Mrs. Norris, was Silas W. Pettit, chairman of the so-called Committee of Twenty-one, "pure and undefiled reformers within the party lines."

Through all these years had run the minor thievery. Favored banks, officered by corrupt business men, could always secure a share of the state deposits by promising to re-loan a portion of them to the politicians who secured the deposits, and millions of the state's money has been for years in the absolute control of the political bankers of Pennsylvania without a return of a single cent of interest to the state treasury.

Criminal Episode of the People's Bank

In 1898 the People's Bank of Philadelphia, long known as a political institution, which served as a clearing house for machine politicians, closed its doors. Immense sums of state moneys had been placed there on deposit and loaned Republican politicians for speculation or otherwise. John S. Hopkins, the cashier, following in the footsteps of Walters, blew out his brains, and James McManes, president, stockholder and politician, made up a deficit of $600,000 to quiet a scandal, but in the dead cashier's desk were found papers which prove conclusively that Quay and others had secured state deposits to the bank in order that they might be reloaned to themselves individually. One was the famous telegram, signed M. S. Quay, dated St. Lucie, February 11, 1898: "John S. Hopkins, cashier: If you will buy and carry 1000 Met. for me, I will shake the plum tree." And a letter was found from Benjamin J. Haywood, state treasurer, showing that the plum tree had been shaken; that he had placed an additional $100,000 of state funds in the bank, and requesting the loan of a similar amount to Richard Quay, the son of the senator.

B. J. Haywood died suddenly a few weeks before the time set for his trial with Senator Quay upon the charge of criminal conspiracy. It is recent history to the people of Pennsylvania how the senior senator of this great commonwealth, brought to the bar of justice, avoided punishment for his manifold iniquities by pleading the statute of limitations.

The Philadelphia Press in 1885, in opposing the nomination of Quay for state treasurer, asserted it would take the lid from off the treasury and expose secrets before which Republicans would stand dumb. The lid has never been lifted. How much corruption seethes within its walls only the facile tools of the Republican machine can tell, unless the spectres of Noyes, Walters, Hart, Norris, Warren, Hopkins and Haywood, driven to their graves by a burden of guilt too great to bear, lend circumstantial corroboration to the stories of plunder.

Treasury Balance May Be Fictitious.

The books of the state treasury have never been audited, although the paper statements show a balance of $10,000,000 annually. No school appropriation in Pennsylvania has ever been paid until long overdue, and then only in heed of the clamoring of the district boards. Indeed, there is a grave doubt that the $10,000,000 is in the state treasury, and it may be that the state of Pennsylvania carries as a portion of that asset the personal notes, the memorandums of indebtedness and the I. O. U.'s of politicians, many of them now outlawed beyond redemption.

If the state treasurer's accounts are straight, why deny inspection to the public? Why refuse that which every honest trustee demands, an auditing of his accounts? Why select the most pliant tool in the employ of the machine for this most responsible post? If any business man were contemplating the appointment of a treasurer to handle, uncontrolled, the receipts of a great business, what sane man would select J. Lee Plummer? Upon his public record his ability is so contemptible that he has never been admitted to the councils of the Republican organization, his disposition so pliant that he served that organization as a messenger boy without inquiry as to the rights or wrongs of the orders he delivered; his record, persistently adverse to every good measure, and consistently favoring every corrupt measure. This man has made himself impossible to the most narrow partisan who holds a remnant of self-respect.

Supported Infamous Legislation.

He was an active supporter of the infamous Puhl bill, designed to cripple law and order societies in their war upon the degrading forms of vice which menace our great cities; he was a supporter of the Ehrhardt bills which actually proposed to protect the unthinkable white slave dealers in Philadelphia county. He supported the Susquehanna river grab; the Snyder water works grab; all three of the Philadelphia ripper bills; the Grady-Salus libel law; the bill authorizing the county commissioners instead of the courts of Philadelphia to appoint election officers, to further debauch election conditions in Philadelphia. The chief bill to which he was recorded in opposition was the bill to increase allowances to the township high schools.

No statement that I have made regarding Mr. Plummer is taken from any other source than the legislative record of his acts. He stands convicted upon his own record of a moral feebleness and turpitude that can be equalled only by that of any free citizen who votes for him. John Fisk, the distinguished economist, shortly before his death bemoaned "the fallen state of Pennsylvania morals, sunk in bondage to petty tyrants as cheap and vile as ever cumbered the earth." What words could be used to depict the present leaders of that once invincible organization?

Opposed to this character the honest citizens of Pennsylvania have united upon a man the antithesis of J. Lee Plummer: a man who is the head of a large and successful manufacturing establishment; an employer of labor whose voice has never been raised, save in the interest of honest government; whose character among his neighbors is so transcendant that the town of Chester, which in November, 1904, gave that magnificent president of ours, Theodore Roosevelt, a majority of 1800, elected this man mayor of that town in February by a majority of 600. That man is William J. Berry.

The Line-Up of Political Forces.

(From the Philadelphia Press, Rep.)

On the one side is "Iz," he of the capacious pocket, and his business partner, "Jim," with a choice company of retainers-for-revenue-only, whose ranks have been seriously depleted because the presence of the faithful is required behind iron bars. The Martins, Salters, Smyths, Hills, Sterrs, et al., the gambling house keepers, the proprietors of disorderly resorts and speak-easies, the entire criminal population of the city, the corporation bribe-givers and law-making bribe-takers, all supported by one lone, doubtful "organ," which pipes in uncertain tones, makes up the Machine Organization.

On the other side are the president of the United States, the mayor of the city, the secretary of state, the secretary of the navy, all the respectable newspapers of Philadelphia, with the one exception noted, the national magazines and the press of the country generally, the Philadelphia preachers of all denominations, the Pennsylvania Bar Association, the leading business and professional men of the city, a splendid host of young men, fired with the glow of patriotism, and all the tried and proved leaders in movements for civic welfare and human betterment.

Blackmailing the Bankers.

(From the Boston Herald, Ind., Rep.)

The Pennsylvania Republicans have been appealing to about 100 banks of the Keystone State for campaign contributions to meet the expenses of the election this fall. The banks selected for this "touch" are those that have been favored by deposits of the state's money. But is there not some limit to the amount such banks can afford to contribute for the sake of holding deposits of the public funds? If campaign contributions must be made each year, and if banks holding public funds must loan money to political bosses whenever they desire it, we should suppose that the outgo might be greater than the income. Presumably all the banks will not pull together in this matter. If they did they could refuse to be bled for campaign contributions or to grant loans to political bosses; but there are those morally weak in business as well as in politics. That class will yield and share the profits they make from holding the state's money with those who are of service to them in obtaining this privilege.

How He Needed.

A Washington county editor writes that a newly married young woman kneads bread with her gloves on. The editor of this paper needs bread with his shoes on; he needs it with his hat on; he needs it with his trousers on, and unless the delinquent readers of this old rag of freedom pay up soon we'll need bread without a darn thing on.—Louisiana Press-Journal.

Secret of Japanese Success.

The Japanese generals have never found time to halt and investigate the results of either victories or reverses. They have had no time for quarrels among themselves of for courts-martial. It has been a case of forward—on, on—with no thought of hunger, death, disease, or any obstacle in the path to the consummation of their plans. They have furnished the world a lesson in the value of preparedness and persistency. They have demonstrated that success comes to armies and nations as to individuals, by keeping everlastingly at it. That's the secret of it. It's an illustrated leaf in the lesson of life.—Washington Post.

Chain Carved From Tree Trunk.

Among the curiosities recently presented to the Maritzburg museum, in South Africa, is a chain twenty-three feet six inches long, carved from the trunk of a tree by "Knobnose" natives, a tribe in the Zoutspanberg district, Transvaal. The chain is continuous, requiring phenomenal patience and skill in carving.

The Bible in Turkey.

While permitting the Bible to be circulated in Turkey, the Turkish authorities suggested that the text: "Come over into Macedonia and help us," really ought to be omitted, and that, at any rate, wherever the word Macedonia occurs it should be changed to "the vilayet of Salonika and Uskub."

Value of Old Felt Hats.

In the course of a case at Lambeth County Court, London, it was in evidence that old hard felt hats, which were valueless up to a few months ago, could now be sold for $35 a ton, and the market was rising. The hats are burned to get the shellas, which is worth 50 cents a pound.

Earth From the Holy Land.

It is stated by a London newspaper that a company has been formed to do up earth from Palestine in packages and to import them into the United States, labeled with an affidavit to the effect that the contents are guaranteed to be from the Holy Land.

THE MACHINE'S FIGHT.

Attitude of President Roosevelt and His Administration Toward the State Gang.

Every Expression That Has Come From the President and His Advisors is Against the Machine and Its Corrupt methods.

The Philadelphia Record of recent morning says editorially: Within two weeks of the close of the contest, when all signs indicate an overwhelming defeat of the Machine in both city and state, too much credit cannot be given to the influence of President Roosevelt and his administration in contributing to the promised result. Although the President could not with propriety interfere in a local contest in which no national issues are involved, from the beginning all have known that his sympathies were with the Republican revolution in Pennsylvania. Then followed the trenchant epigram of Mr. Root as he was about to enter upon the office of Secretary of State, describing the Durham-McNichol banditti as "a corrupt and criminal combination masquerading under the name of Republican." Next came the incisive utterances of Secretary Bonaparte of the same purport. Finally we have the honest and manly declaration of Secretary Taft that if he were in Cincinnati at this election he would vote against the Republican Machine. How much greater reason would he have to vote against the Durham-McNichol ticket if he were a citizen of Philadelphia! As a consequence of the attitude of the president and of the members of his cabinet, as well as of the Republican party throughout the land, the Machine has vainly appealed to prominent Republicans to come into the state and make speeches under its auspices.

Thus the Pennsylvania Machine is exscinded as a dangerous excrescence from the wholesome body of the Republican party and is left to perish in its iniquity. In the conditions that have been developed a triumph of the Penrose-Durham combination would be a triumph of the forces of evil over the better political elements of all parties. But with the immense encouragement afforded by the Roosevelt administration and the national Republican party so sinister an event is not probable. All signs indicate that the revolution in Pennsylvania in marching on to an assured victory.

Vote the straight Democratic ticket.

Graft in The Schools.

In some counties of the state it is charged that school directors sell the appointments of teachers, compelling the latter to turn over a certain portion of their salaries. In Luzerne county the practice seems to prevail. Speaking on the subject recently, Dr. J. P. Welsh said:

"Some time ago, a young woman wrote to me in detail of how positions in schools are bought and sold in Luzerne county. The names of directors who took money and the amounts paid by teachers were given. I immediately sent a communication to the State Superintendent of Schools and requested that he take some steps to investigate.

"Whether or not the proper authorities are now in possession of this evidence for prosecution purposes I do not know.

"Numerous letters reach me from normal graduates regarding the bribery in some of the townships. I have in mind one case where the writer asked my opinion on the advisability of paying a director a certain sum for a school. She said all others had to do so, and unless she complied the position would be given to another.

"Graft in school matters is a terrible thing. It should be stopped, and I cannot see why action has not been taken before. There is plenty of evidence of bribery in Luzerne County and the officials ought to secure it and deal fearlessly with the offenders.

"It has come to such a pass that teachers are beginning to look upon the directors' levies as legitimate compensation. One of the normal school instructors, the late Prof. Detweller, one time asked the catch question, 'Who pays the school directors?'

"A former teacher in Luzerne County, who had returned to us for a special course, answered in all seriousness, 'The teachers pay the directors.'

"In mining districts, where salaries are large, I find there is much graft-seeking by directors."

MARRIAGE BY SALVATIONISTS.

The Bond Is In the Interest of Both Religion and Morality.

The Salvation Army has curious ways of its own for getting on. But for its great success these ways might be ridiculed and even condemned as they were at first. Ridicule, however, has passed into appreciation and the methods of the army are now studied by sociologists and philanthropists to good advantage.

The frequent marriages among the members of the army have been a subject of comment. It has seemed as if the institution were a veritable matchmaker, caring quite as much for things in this world as for those in the next. The Army has what might be termed a school of courtship, presided over by a colonel and his wife, each of whom holds classes on set days and gives talks on the responsibilities of marriage. And why not? Many of these people are drawn from the slums and from the most ignorant classes. They have little appreciation of the responsibilities of life and the significance of the family relation. Anything that will tend to a better sense of marriage and domestic duties is to be commended. The Salvationists know that nothing conduces more to morality than healthful, happy marriage, and they make a specialty of it, so to speak—not for the sake of matchmaking or for the fun of the thing, but to promote morality and religion.

Common sense leads the Army to note these facts and go to work in regard to it in a businesslike way; to give instruction as to the meaning of marriage ,its duties and responsibilities, its pitfalls, its illusions, as well as its joys and safeguards. It is singular and reflects on our civilization that although marriage is the most important relation upon which man can enter, it is one to which little attention is given by way of study and preparation. It has been thought that somehow these things take care of themselves. The fallacy of such reasoning, or want of it, is seen too often in the results, especially those which show up in divorce courts.

It is not necessary to agree with Felix Adler and hold that happiness is not the object of marriage, but it is desirable to understand well that marriage means something else than unalloyed bliss. The Salvationists are doing their part toward making the matter clear and it would be well if all other religious organizations were equally efficient.—Chicago Chronicle.

THE SUCCESS OF JAPAN

Her Jump From a Semi-Civilized to Leading Power.

HAD INTERNAL QUARRELS

China Thought During One of These Times to Seize Korea.—Japs Then Dropped Their Internal Affairs and Voted $75,000,000 War Fund in Three Minutes.

The memory remains fresh in men still living of the time when Japan was a semi-civilized, secluded land, far from the reach of Western enlightenment—a country of junks and bows and arrows. She is now one of the most advanced nations and a world power.

If you should ask a Japanese what has made his country as it is to-day his answer would be—it is the unanimity of the people.

The Japanese have frequently had quarrels over their internal affairs; which even led at one time to a short war.

But whenever they are confronted with a danger that threatens their national existence or honor they at once firmly unite themselves for one common object.

The opposition of the Representatives to the Cabinet was the cause of the repeated dissolutions of the Japanese Diet, and the apparent lack of harmony in the Japanese Government led China, in 1894, to infer that Japan was utterly unable to attend to her external affairs.

She, therefore, hastened to take the opportunity to claim control over Korea, as she had done in old times, on the plea of aiding that country to suppress an insurrection.

China dispatched her troops into Korea, which was a violation of the Tien Tsin treaty entered into between Japan and China with respect to Korean neutrality.

But the Japanese were on the alert. They immediately regained one harmonious stand, forgetting all internal feuds, political frictions and opposittions.

The Diet assembled at Hiroshima, the center of the Japanese military operations, and after its sitting of only three minutes, sanctioned without any opposition the issuance of a $75,000,000 war fund.

It was unanimity that enabled the Japanese government to act promptly. The Japanese forces encountered the Korean insurgents before the Chinese could have concentrated enough troops to aid the Korean government.

The Japan-China war that followed the incident because of China's refusal to evacuate Korean soil ended in a decided victory for Japan, due to the unanimous support of her people.

The Japanese Cabinet has never been opposed in its naval expansion plan. Every Japanese upholds this plan, even if it might deprive him of his last cent, for the preservation of his nation's honor and dignity, he knows, depends on an efficient navy.—Yae Kiche Yahe, in Philadelphia Bulletin.

The Japanese Soldier's Rations.

The other day I spoke of rice and dried fish being the uniform food of the Japanese Army in campaigning times. This is the way in which the rice is cooked: It is boiled until quite thick and glutinous. Next it is placed on a ceramic slab, rolled out and put into squares. The squares are then placed in the sun to dry and often turned. When hard as sea biscuit and greatly reduced in weight they can be stored. A certain number are allowed each day to the soldier. All he has to do is to break up a square in boiling water and to add the dried fish. In a few minutes he has what seems to him a delicious thick soup. If he can not procure boiling water he simply eats his rice-cake dry. In the fruit season he substitutes fruit when he can obtain it for the fish. The Japanese soldier, M. Pichon tells, me, has muscles like whipcord, is a sure shot, has an eye for land marks, and a memory for locality. He can do with three hours' sleep out of the twenty-four, is cleanly, attends to sanitary instructions, is ardently patriotic, holds his life cheap and runs up hills like a goat. He costs the state about 4½d. a day and thinks himself well off.—London Truth.

The Panama Problem.

Another feature of the proposed work at Panama renders utterly useless the data secured from the construction of the Chicago drainage canal. The big engineering problem at Panama is the great dam that is to create a lake fifty-two feet above the sea level and covering 13,585 acres, and the completion of this feature of the canal will be the work of years, requiring the expenditure of more money and labor than was needed for the entire construction of the Chicago enterprise. Add to this the other problem of making provisions to prevent the canal from silting up during the flood season in the Chagres river and also the construction of locks that will raise and lower a distance of sixty feet, and the Chicago job looks, by comparison, like the canals dug by children through the back yards on a rainy day. When work is finally commenced, there is no doubt but that American money, American energy and American engineering skill will push it forward with the greatest possible speed, although those at all familiar with conditions on the Isthmus will hesitate to predict the completion of the great project within eight years.—Washington Post.
